SECTION I

INTRODUCTION

Ambassador Thomas R. Pickering

The ninth annual report to Congress on voting practices in the UN General Assembly and the Security Council in 1991 is submitted in compliance with Public Law 101-167. The report statistically measures voting records of UN member states individually, by geographical regions and by selected bloc groupings, in comparison with the U.S. voting record. It also lists and describes important General Assembly resolutions and decisions adopted by the 46th General Assembly in the fall of 1991, as well as all Security Council resolutions for the entire year.

The 46th General Assembly admitted seven new members at its first meeting in September, raising total UN membership to 166. The new members were the Republic of Korea and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea; the Republics of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania; and former U.S. Trust Territory of the Pacific Island (TTPI) countries of the Federated States of Micronesia and the Republic of the Marshall Islands. During the year two UN members changed their names on UN rolls — Byelorussian S.S.R. became Belarus and the Ukrainian S.S.R. became Ukraine — and both new names are used throughout the report. Another, the U.S.S.R., continued its membership under the name of the Russian Federation in December after most General Assembly and Security Council work was concluded, and its name is thus retained in the report.

OVERVIEW

The year 1991 was perhaps the most successful ever for the General Assembly and the Security Council. Changes in Eastern Europe in 1991 translated at the United Nations into ever closer cooperation between the United States and the countries of this region. These changes also continued to affect positively long-standing voting blocs and groupings which had built up during the Cold War. The result was a reconsideration by many UN members of their national and multilateral interests at the UN. With a few notable exceptions, U.S. working relations with developing country members were increasingly constructive in 1991.

Greater pragmatism and less unhelpful and divisive rhetoric contributed to a continued improvement in UN atmospherics as compared with previous years. Discussions, resolution texts, and debates on most issues were less strident and more nuanced than before. Reflecting this change, the U.S. Mission to the United Nations identified only three General Assembly resolutions which even indirectly criticized the United States, one being a G-77 (Cuban) Second Committee (economic and development) resolution on political and economic coercion against developing countries which "deplored" such measures by some developed countries.

The two principal UN bodies — the General Assembly and the Security Council — reflected this new environment in varying ways. The General Assembly was able to reduce and consolidate its agenda, which led to a significant reduction in the number of resolutions adopted. By contrast, the Security Council reached a historic high in resolutions adopted, reflecting its increased effectiveness and usefulness in fulfilling its primary responsibility for maintenance of international peace and security. These trends in both bodies — combined with impending changes at year's end in the structure and functioning of the UN Secretariat which could lead to further UN reform — are positive signs for the future of the United Nations.

The United States strongly supports consensus adoption of resolutions and decisions when feasible and consistent with U.S. national interests. It was particularly successful in this regard in the Security Council, where 86% of the 42 resolutions were adopted by consensus, and only seven No votes — none by Permanent Members — and ten abstentions were cast out of the 630 votes on them. In the General Assembly, consistent with UN reform objectives established in 1986, all Fifth Committee (administrative and budget) resolutions were adopted in plenary by consensus for the third consecutive year.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The 46th session of the General Assembly opened on September 17 and held 79 plenary sessions (7 more than in 1990) before recessing on December 20. It adopted a total of 281 resolutions, a sharp drop from the 332 resolutions of 1990. Seventy-four percent (207) of the resolutions were adopted by consensus, the same percentage figure as in 1990.

General Assembly voting coincidence statistics reflect these positive developments. The average overall voting coincidence of all UN members with the United States at the 46th UNGA jumped upward by 6.5%, exceeding 1990's record increase. Just as significantly, the total voting coincidence of 27.8% for all UN members combined is the highest since these reports were first compiled, for the 38th UNGA in 1983.

As in past years, the highest voting coincidence scores were registered by Israel, the United Kingdom and France. Most members of the Western European and Others group (WEOG), in which the United States participates, again scored high. However, the greatest gains were registered by the Eastern European group, which collectively voted with the United States roughly fifty percent of the time; only Yugoslavia scored significantly below the group average.

The overall increase in voting coincidence percentage worldwide in 1991 was reflected in individual country increases for the majority of UN members. Among member countries with significant voting coincidence percentage increases were Albania, Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belarus, Bulgaria, Cote d'Ivoire, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Hungary, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Mongolia, New Zealand, Norway, Poland, Romania, Samoa, Sweden, U.S.S.R., Ukraine and Uruguay. Only Cuba, Iraq and Laos voted the same as the United States less than ten percent of the time in plenary.

One noteworthy development at the 46th General Assembly was the 15% decline in the number of plenary resolutions adopted. This can be attributed to biennialization (or even triennialization) of some agenda items formerly considered annually, consolidation of other items, and the actual dropping from the agenda of still others no longer pertinent. The continued decline in the number of recorded votes is consistent with the pattern of recent years.

Among the significant actions by the 46th UNGA:

— Revocation of the unacceptable determination in resolution 3379 (1975) that Zionism is a form of racism and racial discrimination, by a decisive vote of 111(US)-25-13.

— Appointment as next Secretary General to a 5-year term beginning January 1, 1992, of Boutros Boutros Ghali, a former Deputy Prime Minister of Egypt who has indicated support for UN reform and administrative improvement.

— Resolutions on three U.S. initiatives which: provide for UN assistance to countries requesting help in conducting free and fair elections (based on President Bush's October 1, 1990, General Assembly address); provide for phased reduction leading to a moratorium, effective at the end of 1992, on high seas driftnet fishing; and promote entrepreneurship through UN bodies.

— On Gulf issues, overwhelming adoption of resolutions which condemn Iraqi human rights violations in Kuwait, and back IAEA actions on Iraqi non-compliance with its non-proliferation obligations. The latter action followed the defeat of Iraqi amendments to the IAEA report resolution designed to weaken and undermine it.

— Consensus agreements on zero real growth in the UN budget for the next two years, and continued implementation of other UN administrative reforms, including a recommendation to increase the number of women employed in the UN system.

— Authorization for the UN to establish a register of international conventional arms transfers, thereby improving transparency of international arms sales.

— Approved UN organizational plans for action through UNDCP (UN International Drug Control Program) to combat narcotic drugs.

— Action to improve and coordinate the UN capacity to respond with humanitarian aid to natural or man-made disasters.

— A reorientation of UN anti-crime activities from drafting new legal instruments to practical measures.

— A further sharp reduction in the number of First Committee (disarmament and security) issues considered in plenary — from 65 at the 45th UNGA to 47 — and a similar reduction in the number of votes on these issues — from 26 to 17. This shift was accompanied by a decline in bloc cohesion in voting on these issues.

— Adoption by consensus for the first time in years of an omnibus resolution which covered ten non-self governing territories including American Samoa, Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands. The United States was able to join consensus following overwhelming Fourth Committee adoption of three U.S. amendments, strongly opposed by Cuba, to eliminate offensive language on Guam. The Fourth Committee also unanimously adopted four U.S. amendments to the U.S. Virgin Islands draft resolution.

— Withdrawal by Cuba of its draft resolution on the U.S. trade embargo against Cuba, in face of likely defeat if brought to a vote.

Although in most areas the United States made considerable progress in 1991, we continued to confront problems in the General Assembly, particularly on Middle East and apartheid issues. Against the backdrop of the Madrid conference, neither the United States nor a majority of Arab states wished to undertake any effort which might impact the peace process. Thus the status quo prevailed, and many Middle East resolutions remained polemical in nature. In addition, many of the apartheid resolutions were as unbalanced as ever, despite agreement on a politically important omnibus text. In another problem area, the texts of some nuclear-cluster resolutions moved away from past formulas that the United States could accept.

SECURITY COUNCIL

A major focus of U.S. attention in the United Nations in 1991 continued to be the Security Council, a forum of extraordinary productivity for the second consecutive year. The Council adopted 42 resolutions in 1991, 36 of them unanimously. This total exceeds by five the record number of resolutions adopted in 1990, and marks only the second time in Council history that it has adopted as many as 30 resolutions.

Neither the United States nor any other Permanent Member of the Council exercised its veto right in 1991. It was the first year that the United States has not vetoed a proposed resolution since 1979, and the first year of no veto by any Permanent Member since 1978.

The Security Council greatly expanded the range of its activities in 1991. It adopted 12 resolutions regarding Iraq — many of them unprecedented in import — making a total of 24 resolutions on this issue since the Iraqi August 2, 1990, invasion and occupation of Kuwait. It also called into being three entirely new peacekeeping operations — UNIKOM in Iraq-Kuwait, ONUSAL in El Salvador, and MINURSO for a referendum in Western Sahara — and established UNAVEM II in Angola to support a negotiated solution to the civil war. The mandate of UNIIMOG expired at the end of February.

The Council adopted resolutions on Cambodia setting up an advance team (UNAMIC) to pave the way for UNTAC, expected to be the largest UN peacekeeping operation ever, which would help implement a comprehensive political settlement in that country. Resolutions on Yugoslavia pointed toward another peacekeeping operation in that country once an effective ceasefire and commitment to a peace process exist. The Council adopted resolutions on El Salvador backing the negotiated settlement, and on the peace process in Cyprus.

Voting coincidence percentages for Security Council members were extremely high, with eight members — Austria, Belgium, Cote d'Ivoire, France, Romania, United Kingdom, U.S.S.R. and Zaire — voting with the United States on all 42 substantive votes measured. Only three Council members voted against the U.S. position in 1991 — Cuba five times and Yemen and Zimbabwe once each — all on resolutions concerning Iraq.

FORMAT AND METHODOLOGY

The 1991 voting report is unchanged in format from last year's report, and its presentation is consistent with provisions of PL 101-167. Similarly, the methodology employed is the same since the report's inception.

The tables which follow in this report provide a measurement of UN member country performance. However, readers are again cautioned about interpreting voting coincidence percentages. These percentages are calculated using only votes on which both the United States and the other country in question voted Yes or No; not included are those instances when either abstained or was absent. However, abstentions and absences make a mathematical difference, sometimes major, in the percentage results.

In recent years, in response to concerns expressed inside and outside the U. S. Government, the report has been expanded to measure General Assembly votes in three different ways. Section II on overall votes provides information parallel with all previous editions of the report. Important votes (Section III), was introduced in its present form in the report on the 44th UNGA. Section IV on consensus resolutions and decisions was also introduced in that report, to take into account the many areas of agreement on issues between the United States and other UN members. Consensus resolutions have grown to constitute three-fourths of all resolutions adopted, which indicates the significance of this section.

A country's voting record in the United Nations is only one dimension of its relations with the United States. Bilateral economic, strategic and political issues are often more directly important to U.S. interests. Nevertheless, a country's behavior at the UN is always relevant to its bilateral relationship with the United States, a point the Secretary of State routinely makes in his letters of instruction to new U.S. ambassadors. This is also why copies of this report are presented to UN member foreign ministries throughout the world, and to observer state missions in New York. The Security Council and the General Assembly are arguably the most important international bodies in the world, dealing as they do with such vital issues as threats to peace and security, disarmament, development, humanitarian relief, human rights, the environment and narcotics — all of which can and do directly affect major U.S. interests.

SECTION II

GENERAL ASSEMBLY: OVERALL PLENARY VOTES

There were 88 recorded plenary votes at the 46th UNGA — 74 on resolutions as a whole, 10 on separate paragraphs, two on decisions, and two motions. Of these 88 votes, the United States voted Yes 15 times and No 55 times; it abstained on 15 votes and did not participate on three.

The tables which follow are based on the 70 instances the United States voted either Yes or No in plenary. Columns show the number of times the United States and the country listed cast identical (Yes/Yes or No/No) and opposite (Yes/No or No/Yes) votes, as well as the number of times the country abstained and was absent for these 70 votes. The voting coincidence percentages are derived by dividing the number of identical votes by the total of identical and opposite votes, the same method used in all previous editions of this report.

Section II has four parts. The first lists UN member states both alphabetically and in rank order by voting coincidence percentage. The second lists them by UN regional grouping, in rank order by voting coincidence percentage. The third lists countries by other important groupings, again in rank order. The final part compares 1991 voting coincidence percentages of UN members with the preceding five years.

Countries with an asterisk in the Voting Coincidence column did not vote during the session. Under Article 19 of the UN Charter, Equatorial Guinea did not vote at the 46th UNGA because its financial contributions were in arrears. South Africa has not voted since the 28th UNGA in 1973.

The United States once again voted No in plenary more often than any other UN member. However, it voted No alone in plenary only five times at the 46th UNGA (as compared with nine times at the 45th UNGA and 20 times at the 44th). The United States voted with only one other country on 26 occasions (Israel, 18 times; the United Kingdom, 6; and France, 2). Twice it voted No with two other countries, and once with three other countries.

SECTION III

GENERAL ASSEMBLY: IMPORTANT VOTES

PL 101-167 calls for analysis and discussion of "all such votes on issues which directly affected important United States interests and on which the United States lobbied extensively." For the 46th General Assembly in 1991, 12 votes were judged as meeting these criteria.

Section III consists of four parts: a listing and description of the 12 important votes at the 46th UNGA; voting coincidence percentages with the United States on these important votes, arranged both alphabetically by country and in rank order of agreed votes; voting coincidence percentages by UN regional groupings and other important groupings; and a comparison of important with overall voting coincidence percentages from Section II.

LISTING AND DESCRIPTION

Each item below provides a short title, document number, date of vote, and results (Yes-No-Abstain), with the U.S. vote in parentheses. The first paragraph summarizes the subject matter of each vote, and the second provides background and the U.S. position.

1. IAEA Report

| Motion | November 13 | 88(US)-25-26 |

Argentine motion to take no action on a draft amendment proposed by Iraq to the draft resolution on the IAEA report. The amendment would have expressed concern at Israeli non-compliance with Security Council resolution 487 of 1981 condemning Israel's attack on the Osirak reactor in Iraq.

The United States successfully lobbied for this motion, defeating Iraq's attempt to politicize the traditionally non-controversial consensus endorsement of the IAEA and its efforts to promote the peaceful use of atomic energy.

2. IAEA Report

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| A/Res/46/16 | November 13 | 141(US)-0-9 |

Affirms confidence in IAEA's role on application of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes and notes with appreciation IAEA actions concerning Iraqi non-compliance with its non-proliferation obligations.

The United States traditionally supports this resolution endorsing IAEA efforts to promote the peaceful use of atomic energy. It also strongly supported the inclusion of a new paragraph commending the IAEA for its work in responding to Iraq's violations of non-proliferation obligations and in implementing Security Council resolutions aimed at eliminating Iraq's ability to develop or produce nuclear weapons.

3. Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty

A/Res/46/29 December 6 147-2(US)-4

Urges states to achieve early and unconditional discontinuance of all nuclear-test explosions; reaffirms the Conference on Disarmament's responsibility in negotiating a comprehensive nuclear-test-ban treaty; and urges reestablishment of the Ad Hoc Committee on a Nuclear Test Ban.

Although the text of this resolution was improved somewhat from prior years, it still contains language inconsistent with U.S. policy on nuclear testing and deterrence. France also voted against the resolution.

4. Register of Conventional Arms Transfers

A/Res/46/36L December 9 150(US)-0-2

Asks the Secretary General to establish a universal Register of Conventional Arms and appoint an expert panel to elaborate technical procedures; and asks states to provide annual information on arms transfers for the Register.

The United States cosponsored this EC/Japan initiative; it does not limit U.S. ability to supply its allies.

5. UNRWA

A/Res/46/46A December 9 137(US)-0-1

Regrets that the UN Conciliation Commission for Palestine is unable to give effect to paragraph 11 of General Assembly resolution 194 (III) regarding repatriation and compensation for Palestinian refugees; and calls upon all states to contribute generously to UNRWA.

As the largest contributor to UNRWA (United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestinian Refugees in the Near East), the United States strongly supports UNRWA programs of education, health and relief services to over two million Palestinian refugees, and it traditionally sponsors this resolution. Israel abstained on the vote.

6. Palestine - International Peace Conference

A/Res/46/75 December 11 104-2(US)-43

Inter alia, considers convening an international peace conference on the Middle East, under UN auspices, including the participation of the PLO.

The United States voted against this resolution, which ignored major recent developments and sought to determine in advance the outcome of issues under consideration at the peace conference. The United States emphasized that peace would result only from direct negotiations among the parties, and could not be imposed from outside.

7. Middle East - Palestinian Question

A/Res/46/82A December 16 93-27(US)-37

Reaffirms that the Palestine question is the core of the Middle East conflict and cannot be solved without the participation of all parties, including the PLO; condemns continued Israeli occupation of Palestinian territory, establishment of settlements and imposition of Israeli law on the Golan Heights; and determines that the Israeli decision to annex Jerusalem is null and void.

Although some particularly objectionable language was deleted, the United States was unable to support this resolution which failed to refer to the ongoing peace talks, addressed issues to be resolved through those talks, and was unbalanced in its condemnation of one party to the talks.

8. Zionism/Racism

Motion December 16 34-96(US)-13

Defeat of a Yemeni motion that the draft resolution on Zionism/racism is an "important vote" which requires adoption by a two-thirds majority vote.

The United States vigorously opposed the motion — a procedural maneuver to block repeal of the "Zionism is racism" resolution — arguing that the 1975 resolution to be revoked was passed by a simple majority.

9. Zionism/Racism

A/Res/46/86 December 16 111(US)-25-13

Decides to revoke the determination (that Zionism is a form of racism and racial discrimination) in General Assembly resolution 3379 (XXX) of November 10, 1975.

This was a high priority U.S. initiative cosponsored by 86 UN members. It repealed the obnoxious resolution of 1975, which mocked the principles upon which the United Nations was founded.

10. Human Rights in Occupied Kuwait

A/Res/46/135 December 17 155(US)-1-0

Asks Iraq to provide information on Kuwaitis and third-country nationals deported from Kuwait or arrested between August 2, 1990, and February 26, 1991, to release those still detained, and to provide information on gravesites for those who are dead; and requests Iraq facilitate the work of international humanitarian organizations in the search for detainees and missing persons.

The United States supported this resolution to ensure continued international attention to Iraq's human rights violations in Kuwait. Only Iraq voted against it.

11. Periodic and Genuine Elections

A/Res/46/137 December 17 134(US)-4-13

Stresses that periodic and genuine elections are a necessary and indispensable element of efforts to protect the rights and interests of the governed; endorses the Secretary General's designating a senior Secretariat official as focal point and coordinator for requests to the UN for electoral assistance.

This U.S. initiative on streamlining UN electoral assistance moves forward development of the question of periodic and genuine elections introduced by the United States in 1989 and strongly endorsed by President Bush in his 1990 address to the General Assembly. It formalizes the UN role, but retains full respect for national sovereignty.

12. Political and Economic Coercion

A/Res/46/210 December 20 97-30(US)-9

Calls for the elimination of coercive economic measures against developing countries; deplores applications of such measures by some developed countries; and calls on developed countries to refrain from using their predominant position in the international economy to exercise political or economic coercion.

This Group of 77 resolution was a Cuban initiative directed against the United States. Voting with us were our Western allies and most of the former Eastern bloc countries.

COMPARISON WITH U.S. VOTES

The tables which follow summarize UN member performance at the 46th UNGA in comparison with the United States on the 12 important votes. In these tables, "Identical Votes" is the total number of times the United States and the listed state both voted Yes or No on these issues. "Opposite Votes" is the total number of times the United States voted Yes and the listed state No, or the United States voted No and the listed state Yes. "Abstentions" and "Absences" are totals for the country being compared on these twelve votes. "Voting Coincidence" is calculated by dividing the number of identical votes by the total of identical and opposite votes.

The first table lists all UN member states in alphabetical order. The second lists them by identical votes in descending order; those states with the same number of identical votes are further ranked by the number of opposite votes in ascending order. Subsequent tables are comparisons of UN members by regional and other groupings to which they belong, again ranked in descending order of identical votes.

SECTION IV

GENERAL ASSEMBLY: CONSENSUS ACTIONS

Of the 281 resolutions adopted by the 46th UNGA in 1991, 207 (74%) were by consensus. In addition, 65 of 67 decisions were adopted by consensus. Combining resolutions and decisions, the percentage of those adopted by consensus exceeds 78%, the highest since these reports have been compiled. At the same time, the total number of plenary votes — on resolutions, decisions, paragraph votes and motions — continues to fall sharply, from 103 at the 45th UNGA to 88 at the 46th. The number of plenary votes on resolutions and decisions is less than half the total four years earlier at the 42nd UNGA.

The following table illustrates these developments:

Resolutions and Decisions

| UNGA | Votes | Consensus | Total | Percentage Consensus |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 46th | 76 | 272 | 348 | 78.2% |
| 45th | 90 | 297 | 387 | 76.7% |
| 44th | 119 | 272 | 391 | 69.6% |
| 43rd | 138 | 245 | 383 | 64.0% |
| 42nd | 154 | 229 | 378 | 60.6% |

The important resolutions listed and discussed below were achieved by consensus at the 46th UNGA. All were selected on the same basis used in determining important votes discussed in Section III above, i.e., they were "issues which directly affected United States interests and on which the United States lobbied intensively."

This section has two parts. The first lists and describes the 15 important consensus actions reached at the 46th UNGA. The second statistically incorporates these important consensus actions with important votes at the 46th UNGA to provide a different perspective on the degree of support for U.S. positions at the United Nations.

IMPORTANT CONSENSUS ACTIONS

The following 15 consensus agreements are identified by shortened titles. Each listing provides the resolution number, date of adoption, a summary description, and an explanation of the U.S. position.

1. Situation in Haiti

A/Res/46/7 October 11

Condemns the overthrow of the constitutional government of Haiti and supports OAS measures to restore the government of President Aristide.

The United States fully supported this resolution, insisting that a small band of armed men who illegally seized power should not prevail over a democratic government established in free, fair and internationally monitored elections.

2. Situation in Cambodia

A/Res/46/18 November 20

Welcomes the restoration of the independence of Cambodia; welcomes the commitment of the Cambodian parties to implement the Paris agreements; and supports efforts of the Secretary General to set up an effective UN transitional authority in Cambodia to assist in restoring peace and stability, and to assist in free and fair elections.

The United States joined consensus on this ASEAN resolution because it supports the process of moving Cambodia toward a comprehensive political settlement and a major UN role in implementing it.

3. Situation in Afghanistan

A/Res/46/23 December 5

Calls upon all parties concerned to work toward a comprehensive political solution in Afghanistan, cessation of hostilities, and creation of conditions of peace enabling refugees to return safely; emphasizes the need for an early start to an intra-Afghan dialogue which would establish a broad-based democratic government; and appeals to all states and international organizations to extend relief assistance.

The United States was able to join consensus on this resolution because it supports the right and ability of the Afghan people to determine the process for choosing a representative government acceptable to them.

4. International Terrorism
A/Res/46/51 December 9

Condemns all acts of terrorism; calls on all states not to commit or assist in commission of terrorist acts; urges states to prevent use of their territory for acts of terrorism and to cooperate with each other in apprehending terrorists; and calls for the safe release of all hostages.

The United States was able to join consensus on this resolution because it condemns all acts of terrorism wherever and by whomever committed, and does not exclude from condemnation terrorist acts committed by national liberation movements.

5. Independence for Colonial Countries and Peoples
A/Res/46/68A December 11

This omnibus resolution on implementing the decolonization declaration calls on administering powers to facilitate political education in non-self-governing territories; reiterates that administering powers are responsible for creating conditions to permit self-determination and to strengthen and diversify economies; and urges administering powers to assist territories in safeguarding natural resources and environment.

Despite some reservations about inconsistencies in the language on the U.S. Virgin Islands, the United States joined consensus as a sign of flexibility and to support the concept of an omnibus resolution as a means of streamlining the work of the Fourth Committee. African group amendments to this resolution were the first substantive improvements on this subject in 15 years, making it sufficiently objective in its treatment of decolonization issues to warrant U.S. support.

6. Apartheid (omnibus resolution)
A/Res/46/79A December 13

Reaffirms support for eradication of apartheid through peaceful means and establishment of a non-racial, democratic South Africa; calls for an end to violence and removal of obstacles to free political activity; urges good faith negotiations on a new constitution; and urges the international community to resume links with democratic anti-apartheid organizations, review restrictive measures, observe the arms embargo, increase humanitarian and legal assistance to victims of apartheid, and aid front-line states in economic recovery.

The United States was able again in 1991 to join consensus on the omnibus apartheid resolution, which is constructive and should encourage the negotiating process leading to a democratic, non-racial government in South Africa.

7. Improvement of the Status of Women in the UN Secretariat
A/Res/46/100 December 16

Urges the Secretary General to give greater priority to recruitment and promotion of women, particularly in senior policy-level and decision-making posts, in order to reach the goal of 35 per cent by 1995; and encourages states to nominate more women candidates.

The United States cosponsored this resolution, which follows up on U.S. resolutions in 1989 and 1990, to increase the number of women employed in the UN system, particularly in senior positions.

8. UN International Drug Control Program
A/Res/46/104 December 16

Welcomes integration of UN structures and functions concerning drugs into a single program; emphasizes the need for the director of the UN anti-drug program to have managerial flexibility; requests the director provide effective leadership to coordinate UN activities and avoid duplicative efforts; and urges all states to give this program the fullest possible financial and political support.

This resolution met major U.S. objectives by giving the head of the UN anti-drug program the necessary latitude and control over personnel and financial resources.

9. Human Rights in Myanmar (Burma)
A/Res/46/132 December 17

Looks forward to early implementation of the Government of Myanmar's commitment to establish a democratic state; expresses concern about the human rights situation and stresses the need for an early improvement; and urges the Government of Myanmar to allow all citizens to participate freely in the political process.

The United States cosponsored this resolution, strongly encouraged other countries to support it, and worked to prevent any weakening of the text.

10. International Debt Crisis
A/Res/46/148 December 18

Urges continued efforts by creditor countries, multilateral financial institutions and private banks in the area of debt service reduction and new financial flows, especially to low-income and debt-laden countries.

The United States was able to join consensus on this resolution because it reaffirmed structural reform and growth-oriented policies, did not call for unconditional reductions in debt, and gave adequate weight to the need for debtor countries to intensify structural reform programs.

11. Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice
A/Res/46/152 December 18

Establishes a new intergovernmental functional commission of ECOSOC to replace the UN Committee on Crime Prevention and Control; and reorients the focus from drafting new instruments to practical activities.

This resolution met key U.S. objectives of establishing member state control over the UN crime prevention program and of shifting the program's focus to practical crime reduction activities.

12. Entrepreneurship
A/Res/46/166 December 19

Welcomes UN activities promoting entrepreneurship in economic development; and requests UN bodies improve further the efficiency of their activities promoting entrepreneurship and private sector development.

The United States introduced this resolution, cosponsored by over 40 countries, as a follow-up to the U.S. resolution on this subject adopted at the 45th UN General Assembly. It supports revitalization of economies through free enterprise, competitive markets and promotion of entrepreneurship.

13. Humanitarian Assistance Coordination Reform
A/Res/46/182 December 19

Provides a plan — which includes a high-level coordinator, standing committee, resource register, and central revolving fund — to improve the UN response to humanitarian crises, both natural and man-made.

The United States actively supported the reform effort leading up to adoption of this resolution, which meets U.S. objectives: UN response mechanisms are improved, the emergency fund is voluntary and not assessed as part of the UN general budget, and overall restructuring of the UN Secretariat is not compromised.

14. Program Budget for 1992-1993
A/Res/46/186 December 20

Adopts the UN budget for the 1992-1993 biennium.

The United States was able to join consensus on this resolution, which maintains zero real growth.

15. Large-Scale Pelagic Driftnet Fishing
A/Res/46/215 December 20

Calls for a phased reduction in large-scale pelagic driftnet fishing on the high seas, with a global moratorium to be fully implemented by December 31, 1992.

The United States strongly supported this resolution, which reaffirms recommendations first made in 1989 to control and mitigate large-scale driftnet fishing on the high seas, which poses a serious threat to the marine environment.

COINCIDENCE PERCENTAGES WITH CONSENSUS

Tables below consolidate statistically the 12 important votes, discussed in Section III, with the 15 important consensus agreements above. They are meant to provide another perspective on cooperation between the United States and UN member states on important issues at the 46th UNGA. Since not all states are equally active at the UN, refined coincidence percentages are also provided for the number of consensus agreements credited to a state based on its participation in all UN voting overall.

What the four columns of figures represent:

— Voting coincidence. The percentage obtained when each UN member's record on important votes is combined with full credit for participating in all 15 important consensus agreements. The theoretical range in this column is from 100% to 55.5%, and the lowest actual score was Cuba's 68.0%.

— Absences. The number of times a country did not participate in the 88 recorded plenary votes. Countries most frequently absent for votes were Rwanda, 64 times; Cambodia, 54; Zaire, 52; Grenada, 37; Dominican Republic, 35; and Antigua-Barbuda, 30. (Equatorial Guinea and South Africa did not participate.)

— Participation Rate. Calculated by dividing the number of Yes/No/Abstain votes cast by a UN member in plenary (i.e., the number of times it was not absent) by the total of plenary votes.

— Adjusted Coincidence. This modifies the voting coincidence percentages in column one by applying the "Participation Rate" to consensus agreements. For example, if a UN member state were absent for 10 of the 88 votes in 1991, it would only be given credit for 88.6% (13.3) consensus agreements rather than 15. Scores in this column extend from Israel and the United Kingdom, at 98.6%, to Rwanda at 40.5%.

The first table is organized alphabetically by country, and the second by rank order of Adjusted Coincidence.

SECURITY COUNCIL

In addition to the five Permanent Members — China, France, the Soviet Union, the United Kingdom and the United States — the Security Council in 1991 was composed of Austria, Belgium, Cote d'Ivoire, Cuba, Ecuador, India, Romania, Yemen, Zaire and Zimbabwe. The following table summarizes the results of the Security Council for the year, and compares them with the previous four years.

| Year | Meetings | Resolutions Considered | Resolutions Adopted | U.S. Vetoes |
| 1991 | 53 | 42 | 42 | 0 |
| 1990 | 69 | 40 | 37 | 2 |
| 1989 | 69 | 25 | 20 | 5 |
| 1988 | 55 | 26 | 20 | 6 |
| 1987 | 49 | 15 | 13 | 2 |

The Security Council met 53 times in formal session in 1991, and every one of these was preceded by informal, oftentimes extensive, consultations. Fifteen of the formal meetings were devoted to peacekeeping operations, as a result of which the Council established three entirely new operations — UN Iraq-Kuwait Observation Mission (UNIKOM), UN Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO), and UN Observer Mission in El Salvador (ONUSAL) — and established the UN Angola Verification Mission (UNAVEM II) as a successor to UNAVEM. The Council also extended the mandates of the UN Observer Group in Central America (ONUCA), UN Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP), UN Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL) and the UN Disengagement Observer Force (UNDOF). It allowed the mandate of the UN Iran-Iraq Military Observer Group (UNIIMOG) to lapse after a one-month extension.

Fourteen Security Council meetings in 1991 concerned the situation which had evolved since Iraq's August 2, 1990, invasion and occupation of Kuwait. In the course of these meetings, the Council adopted 12 resolutions affecting Iraq, making a total of 24 thus far since the Iraqi invasion. The 1991 resolutions on Iraq, many of them far-reaching, covered a range of post-Gulf War issues. These included establishing the terms for a formal ceasefire, treatment of civilian detainees and refugees, disposal of Iraq's chemical, biological and nuclear weapons and their production facilities, and payment of damages and claims.

On other issues, eight meetings in 1991 were devoted to the admission of seven new member states, and three regarded the situation in Yugoslavia. There were two each on the occupied territories, Cambodia, Cyprus and the election of a new member to the International Court of Justice. The situations in Liberia, El Salvador, Haiti and Western Sahara were each the subject of one meeting.

In addition to peacekeeping operations cited above, the Council laid the groundwork for two more. On Cambodia, two resolutions were adopted which established a UN Advance Mission in Cambodia (UNAMIC) designed to prepare for the UN Transitional Authority in Cambodia (UNTAC), an operation which may dwarf any previous UN peacekeeping effort in size and cost. On Yugoslavia, three resolutions were adopted which pointed toward the establishment of a peacekeeping operation in that country should the necessary conditions exist.

The Council also adopted important resolutions on Cyprus and El Salvador in 1991 which encouraged negotiated settlements in those countries. It adopted only one resolution on the Occupied Territories, deploring the deportation of four Palestinians in May, as opposed to three resolutions in 1990.

In sum, the Council adopted all 42 resolutions considered in 1991, 36 of them unanimously. The total of 42 resolutions exceeds the historic high of 37 set in 1990, and marks only the second time in Council history that it has adopted as many as 30 resolutions. In addition, there were no vetoes cast in the Security Council in 1991. This was the first year since 1979 that the United States has not cast a veto, and the first year since 1978 that no Permanent Member of the Council did so. It is only the seventh time in the 46-year history of the Security Council that a calendar year has elapsed without a veto.

The Security Council recommended unanimously on November 21 that Egyptian Deputy Prime Minister Boutros Boutros Ghali be appointed as the next UN Secretary General for a 5-year term beginning January 1, 1992. The recommendation was preceded that day by a secret ballot on candidates, in which Boutros Ghali reportedly received 11 votes in his favor (and 4 abstentions). This vote is not included in the tables below.

It also elected Bola Ajibola of Nigeria in secret balloting December 5 to the International Court of Justice, to fill the vacancy left by Taslim Olawale Elias, also of Nigeria, who died in August. This vote as well is not included in the tables.

The Security Council voted three times in 1991 under the provisional rules of procedure on requests to permit PLO representatives to participate in Council debates (January 4, March 2, May 24). The United States opposed all three requests. Each request, procedurally not subject to veto, was approved by a vote of 11-1(US)-3, with Belgium, France and the United Kingdom abstaining. On February 13 a proposal to continue a meeting on Iraq in closed session was approved by a vote of 9(US)-2-4; Cuba and Yemen voted against it, while China, Ecuador, India and Zimbabwe abstained.

There was no formal action by the Security Council in 1991 on some issues considered. In February, Cuba informally circulated three draft resolutions which were never addressed at a formal meeting, and Cuba circulated a paper in July on increasing the "transparency" of the work of the Council, including a proposal that items to be discussed in informal consultations as well as decisions taken in informal consultations be printed in the UN Journal. Some UN member delegations raised in May the subject of another resolution on Israeli settlements, and formal discussion was deferred in June on the occupied territories and Soviet immigration. Council members informally discussed Libyan involvement in the bombing of Pan Am 103 and UTA 772, but formal action was not taken until the following year. Lebanon was interested in the Council meeting on southern Lebanon at the end of 1991.

The President of the Security Council issued 27 consensus statements in 1991, all endorsed by the United States. By subject: Iraq, 9; admission of new UN members, 4; Cyprus, 3; occupied territories, renewal of UNDOF and renewal of UNIFIL, 2 each; and Liberia, the Secretary General election process, Haiti, a UNIFIL casualty, and UNFICYP financing, one each.

IRAQ-KUWAIT

S/Res/686 March 2 11(US)-1-3

Demands Iraq implement all twelve Security Council resolutions adopted by the Council in 1990 on this matter; further demands Iraq cease hostile action by its forces against UN member states, designate military commanders to arrange for the military aspects of a cessation of hostilities at the earliest possible time, arrange for immediate access to and release of all prisoners of war, and provide all information and assistance in identifying Iraqi mines, booby traps and other explosives as well as chemical and biological weapons; and requests member states and others to cooperate with the government and people of Kuwait in the reconstruction of their country.

Cosponsored by the United States and six other Council members, this resolution formalized the cessation of hostilities in the Gulf war. It was adopted only after Cuba had put forward 17 amendments, all of which failed to obtain the necessary number of votes for adoption. Cuba voted against the resolution; China, India and Yemen abstained.

Following the vote, the U.S. Permanent Representative delivered a statement which hailed it as the foundation to the end of fighting in the Gulf, and said the United States was looking ahead to future Council steps toward a lasting peace.

Voting results (Yes/No/Abstain) on the 17 failed Cuban amendments are identified below by Council document number and listed in the order in which they were presented. The United States abstained on all 17, as did the majority of Council members.

S/Res/687 April 3 12(US)-1-2

(A) Demands that Iraq and Kuwait respect the inviolability of the international boundary and the allocation of islands agreed by them in Baghdad on October 4, 1963; and calls upon the Secretary General to lend his assistance to demarcate the boundary; (B) requests the Secretary General submit a plan for immediate deployment of a UN observer unit to monitor the Khor Abdullah and a demilitarized zone; (C) decides Iraq shall unconditionally accept the destruction, removal or rendering harmless of all chemical and biological weapons and related subsystems and components, and all ballistic missiles with a range greater than 150 kilometers and related major parts; decides the Secretary General shall develop and submit a plan for forming a Special Commission to carry out immediate on-site inspection of Iraq's biological, chemical and missile capabilities, and supervise their destruction, removal or rendering harmless; and decides Iraq shall unconditionally agree not to acquire and develop nuclear weapons or nuclear-weapons-usable material and components, and shall declare the location, amounts and types of these items; (E) reaffirms Iraq is liable under international law for any direct loss, damage (including environmental damage and depletion of natural resources) or injury to foreign governments, nationals or corporations as a result of its unlawful invasion and occupation of Kuwait; and decides to create a fund to pay such compensation and establish a Commission to administer it; (F) decides that prohibitions against the sale or supply to Iraq of commodities or products shall not apply to foodstuffs notified to the Security Council Committee established by resolution 661; and decides the Council shall review these provisions every sixty days to determine whether to reduce or lift the prohibitions; (G) decides that, to further repatriation of Kuwaiti and third country nationals, Iraq shall extend all necessary cooperation to the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC); (H) requires Iraq to inform the Council it will not commit or support any act of international terrorism; and (I) declares, upon official notification by Iraq of its acceptance of the provisions of this resolution, a formal ceasefire is effective between Iraq and Kuwait and member states cooperating with Kuwait in accordance with resolution 678.

The United States co-drafted this lengthy and detailed resolution, which contains 9 parts and 34 operative paragraphs laying the groundwork for a permanent ceasefire in the Gulf and for the withdrawal of coalition forces from Iraqi territory. Following the vote, the U.S. Permanent Representative said the Council's responsibility was now to establish peace in such a way that Iraq never again would threaten Kuwait's sovereignty and integrity. He called on the Iraqi people to put the disaster created by their leaders behind them and join the rest of the international community in building a foundation for lasting peace and security. Cuba voted against this resolution; Ecuador and Yemen abstained.

Condemns the repression of the Iraqi civilian population in many parts of Iraq, most recently in Kurdish populated areas; demands Iraq immediately end this repression; and insists Iraq allow immediate access by international humanitarian organizations to all those in need of assistance.

In an explanation of vote, the U.S. representative expressed profound U.S. concern at the suffering of displaced civilians in Iraq from the brutality of the Iraqi government, and announced President Bush's decision to undertake a major new effort to assist Iraqi refugees. Cuba, Yemen and Zimbabwe voted against this resolution; China and India abstained.

S/Res/689 April 9 15(US)-0-0

Approves the report of the Secretary General on setting up the UN Iraq-Kuwait Observer Mission (UNIKOM) for an initial six-month period; and decides its modalities shall be reviewed every six months.

S/Res/692 May 20 14(US)-0-1

Decides to establish the Fund and Commission referred to in resolution 687 in accordance with the Secretary General's report of May 2, with the Governing Council located in Geneva; requests the Governing Council report as soon as possible on actions it has taken regarding mechanisms for determining the appropriate level of Iraq's contribution to the Fund and methods for ensuring payments are made; and provides for payment of claims against Iraq.

Cuba abstained on this resolution.

S/Res/699 June 17 15(US)-0-0

Confirms that the Special Commission and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) have the authority to conduct activities for the destruction, removal or rendering harmless of chemical , biological and missile capabilities and material usable for nuclear weapons; and decides that Iraq shall be liable for the full costs of carrying out these tasks.

S/Res/700 June 17 15(US)-0-0

Approves the Guidelines to Facilitate Full International Implementation of paragraphs in resolution 687 (regarding the sale or supply to Iraq of armaments) contained in the Secretary General's report of June 2.

S/Res/705 August 15 15(US)-0-0

Decides that compensation to be paid by Iraq (arising from resolution 687) shall not exceed 30 percent of the annual value of its exports of petroleum and petroleum products.

S/Res/706 August 15 13(US)-1-1

Authorizes all states to import for a period of six months petroleum and petroleum products originating in Iraq of a sum not to exceed 1.6 billion U.S. dollars and subject to (a) approval of each purchase by the Security Council Committee established in resolution 661, and (b) payment of the full amount of each purchase into an escrow account to be established by the United Nations and administered by the Secretary General; decides that a part of the sum in the escrow account shall be made available to purchase foodstuffs, medicines and materials and supplies for essential civilian needs; and decides further that a part of the sum in this account shall be used for payments to the UN Compensation Fund, full costs called for in resolution 687 (on payment of claims), full costs incurred by the United Nations in facilitating the return of Kuwaiti property seized by Iraq, and half the costs of the Boundary Commission.

Cuba voted against this resolution, and Yemen abstained.

Condemns Iraq's serious violations of its obligations to cooperate with the Special Commission and the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), which constitute a material breach of relevant provisions of resolution 687; further condemns non-compliance by Iraq with obligations under its IAEA safeguards agreement of July 18; and demands Iraq (i) provide full, final and complete disclosure of all aspects of its programs to develop weapons of mass destruction and ballistic missiles with a range greater than 150 kilometers, and its holding of all such weapons; (ii) allow the Special Commission, IAEA and their Inspection

Teams immediate, unconditional and unrestricted access to any and all areas they wish to inspect; (iii) cease immediately any attempt to conceal material relating to its nuclear, chemical or biological weapons or ballistic missiles; (iv) make available immediately to the Special Commission, IAEA and their Inspection Teams any items to which they were previously denied access; (v) allow the Special Commission, IAEA and their Inspection Teams to conduct aircraft flights throughout Iraq for all relevant purposes; and (vi) halt all nuclear activities (except for use of isotopes for medical, agricultural or industrial purposes) until the Council determines Iraq is in full compliance with this resolution.

In the U.S. explanation of vote, the U.S. Permanent Representative pointed out Iraq's repeated failure to comply with resolution 687 on inspection and destruction of weapons of mass destruction, and its repeated material breaches of obligations under the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. He also noted this resolution placed a heavy burden on the Secretary General for a report on highly technical and complex issues never before tackled by the United Nations, but added that the United States stood ready to help in any way it could.

S/Res/712 September 19 13(US)-1-1

Invites the Security Council Committee on sanctions to authorize immediately, pursuant to resolution 706, the release from the escrow account of the first one-third of $1.6 billion as required (subject to the availability of funds) to finance the purchase of foodstuffs, medicines and materials and supplies for essential civilian needs in accordance with procedures laid down in the Secretary General's report of September 4.

Cuba voted against this resolution, which implemented S/Res/706, and Yemen abstained.

S/Res/715 October 11 15(US)-0-0

Approves plans submitted by the Secretary General and the Director General of the IAEA for future ongoing monitoring and verification of nuclear programs in Iraq; decides the Special Commission shall continue to have responsibility for designating additional locations regarding chemical, biological and anti-missile programs for inspection and overflights, and shall continue to render assistance and cooperation to the IAEA for maximum efficiency and optimum use of resources; and demands Iraq meet unconditionally all its obligations under the plans.

Before the vote, the U.S. Permanent Representative complimented the Special Commission and the IAEA for their excellent plan dealing with an extremely difficult topic. He stated Iraq's performance over the past months demonstrated the necessity of stringent, demanding compliance plans. He also recalled that twice the IAEA had found Iraq in violation of its safeguard agreement, and twice the Security Council had found Iraq in violation of Council resolutions.

Extends the mandate of the UN Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL) for six months, until July 31.

S/Res/695 May 30 15(US)-0-0

Renews the mandate of the UN Disengagement Observer Force (UNDOF) for six months, until November 30.

S/Res/701 July 31 15(US)-0-0

Extends the mandate of UNIFIL for six months, until January 31, 1992.

S/Res/722 November 29 15(US)-0-0

Renews the mandate of UNDOF for six months, until May 31, 1992.

OCCUPIED TERRITORIES

S/Res/694 May 24 15(US)-0-0

Declares Israeli deportation of four Palestinians on May 18 violates the Fourth Geneva Convention of 1949, which is applicable to all Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967, including Jerusalem; deplores this action and reiterates that Israel ensure the safe and immediate return of all those deported.

In an explanation of vote, the U.S. Permanent Representative noted repeated U.S. statements opposing Israel's policy of deportation of Palestinians; called for parallel direct negotiations between Israel and Arab states and Israel and Palestinians; and stated the United States regarded the phrase "all Palestinian territories occupied by Israel since 1967, including Jerusalem" in this resolution as being merely demographically and geographically descriptive, and not indicative of sovereignty.

WESTERN SAHARA

S/Res/690 April 29 15(US)-0-0

Expresses full support for the Secretary General's efforts to organize and supervise, in cooperation with the Organization of African Unity (OAU), a referendum of self-determination of the people of Western Sahara; establishes a UN Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO); and decides that the transitional period will begin no later than 16 weeks after the General Assembly approves the budget for MINURSO.

S/Res/725 December 31 15(US)-0-0

Reiterates its support for further efforts by the Secretary General for the organization and supervision, by the UN in cooperation with the OAU, of a referendum for self-determination of the people of Western Sahara; and calls upon the two parties to cooperate fully.

YUGOSLAVIA

S/Res/713 September 25 15(US)-0-0

Expresses full support for the collective efforts for peace and dialogue undertaken by members of the European Community with the support of states cooperating in the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE); strongly urges all parties to abide by the ceasefire agreements; and decides that all states shall immediately implement a general and complete embargo on all deliveries of weapons and military equipment to Yugoslavia until the Security Council decides otherwise.

This resolution was adopted at a ministerial level meeting of the Security Council in which Secretary of State Baker participated. In his remarks, Secretary Baker condemned past unilateral actions by parties, including Yugoslavia's republics, which had foreclosed options for finding a peaceful solution. He called on Croatia and Serbia to renew efforts to avoid further violence, but singled out the Serbian leadership and the Yugoslav National Army as bearing special responsibility both for creating the deepening crisis and for bringing it to a peaceful end. He also warned that a violent solution in Yugoslavia would lead to international isolation.

Expresses the hope that the Secretary General can present early recommendations, including for the possible establishment of a UN peacekeeping operation in Yugoslavia; and endorses the statement by the personal envoy of the Secretary General to the parties that deployment of a UN peacekeeping operation cannot be envisaged without full compliance by all parties with the agreement signed in Geneva on November 23.

In a statement before the vote, the U.S. Representative said the United States supported this "interim resolution" with the understanding that it did not commit the Council to any specific course of action nor prejudge the decision to send a peacekeeping force to Yugoslavia. He noted the United States would continue to support efforts by the Secretary General and his personal envoy (former U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance) to resolve the Yugoslav crisis.

Endorses the view of the Secretary General's report of December 11 that conditions for establishing a peacekeeping operation in Yugoslavia still do not exist; concurs in sending to Yugoslavia a small group of personnel, including military personnel, to carry forward preparations for possible deployment of a peacekeeping operation once conditions in that report are met; and decides to establish a Committee of the Security Council to consider any information concerning violation of the embargo imposed in resolution 713, and recommend appropriate measures in response to violations.

VOTING SUMMARIES

In the table below, all Security Council members have voted Yes on the 42 resolutions and 17 amendments to S/Res/686 unless indicated in the parentheses following the "No" and "Abstain" totals. The only votes which were not Yes occurred on Iraq-related votes. Hence, the three-figure numbers in parentheses refer to the resolution, and the "A/(number)" refers to the total votes on the Cuban-drafted amendments to 686, all of which were defeated.

| COUNTRY | YES | NO | ABSTAIN |
|---|---|---|---|
| United States | 42 | 0 | 17 (A/17) |
| Austria | 42 | 1 (A/1) | 16 (A/16) |
| Belgium | 42 | 0 | 17 (A/17) |
| China | 41 | 0 | 18 (686, 688, A/16) |
| Cote d'Ivoire | 42 | 0 | 17 (A/17) |
| Cuba | 53 | 5 (686, 687, 688, 706, 712) | 1 (692) |
| Ecuador | 45 | 0 | 14 (687, A/13) |
| France | 42 | 0 | 17 (A/17) |

| United Kingdom | 42 | 0 | 17 (A/17) |
| Yemen | 52 | 1 (688) | 6 (686, 687, 706, 712, A/2) |
| Zaire | 42 | 0 | 17 (A/17) |
| Zimbabwe | 44 | 1 (688) | 14 (A/14) |

In the following table, Security Council votes are tabulated on the same basis as overall votes in this report for the General Assembly, and voting coincidence percentages are calculated accordingly. Following this methodology, the 17 amendments offered by Cuba on resolution 686 are not included, since the United States abstained on all 17. It should be noted that group dynamics in the Security Council, whose fifteen members frequently consult closely on issues before resolutions are presented for adoption, are quite different from those in the General Assembly.

COUNTRY LISTINGS

The United Nations gained seven new members on September 17, raising total UN membership to 166. These members are the newly independent Baltic Republics of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania; the Republic of Korea and the Democratic Peoples' Republic of Korea; and the former Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands (TTPI) countries of the Republic of the Marshall Islands and the Federated States of Micronesia.

Two UN members also made formal name changes. The former Byelorussian S.S.R. and Ukrainian S.S.R. changed their names before the 46th General Assembly opened to Belarus and Ukraine respectively, and are so listed in this section. The former U.S.S.R. was disbanded and its seats in the General Assembly and Security Council assumed by the Russian Federation in December after most of the work of these two bodies was completed, and its name is retained in the report.

This section pulls together information contained in previous sections, and presents it by country for 165 UN members (all except the United States). Each country listing contains the following:

— Summary coincidence percentages drawn from Sections II, III, IV and, for Security Council members, Section V.

— Vote totals in the plenary and on the 12 important votes.

— Every vote on the 12 important votes (with the U.S. vote in parentheses for comparison). Symbols used here are Y=Yes, N=No, A=Abstain and X=Absent.

— Averages on important and overall votes of the UN regional group and other major groupings to which the country belongs.
